Alison Hewitt has specialised in inquests and coronial law for nearly 20 years and is recognised as a leading barrister in the field, being recommended as a Band 1 Individual for Inquests and Public Inquiries by Chambers UK. She is a Specialist Editor of Jervis on Coroners.

Alison acts regularly as Counsel to the Inquest in complex, high-profile and sensitive investigations, and represents a wide range of clients, including police forces, prisons, NHS Trusts, care homes, and coroners, in inquests and associated judicial review and civil proceedings.

She also has a significant police law practice which covers civil claims, judicial review and misconduct proceedings, as well as public inquiries and inquests, and she maintains her long-term personal injury practice. Additionally, she undertakes regulatory work and is a legal advisor to the General Dental Council.

Examples of prominent matters in which Alison has acted include: the Ian Tomlinson Inquest, the Jimmy Mubenga Inquest, the Poppi Worthington Inquest, the Surrey Puppy Farm Murders Inquests, the Shipman Inquiry, the Independent Inquiry into Child Sexual Abuse, and R (Maughan) v HM Coroner for Oxfordshire (the Supreme Court consideration of the standard of proof for suicide and unlawful killing conclusions in inquests).

Alison was appointed HM Senior Coroner for the City of London (a part-time post) in 2016 and also sits as an Assistant Coroner in Surrey.

Expertise

Inquests

In 2002 Alison represented two Coroners at the Shipman Inquiry and her particular interest and expertise in coronial law and procedure grew from there. She is ranked in Band 1 for Inquests and Public Inquiries by Chambers UK who record that clients consider Alison to have “... a complete grasp of the material, is technically very good and her advocacy is superb” and is “A fantastic coronial lawyer. She has become the go-to for coroners and is a good cross-examiner and real delight to work with in a case” (2020).

Alison has extensive and wide-ranging inquest experience and is a Specialist Editor of Jervis on Coroners (14th Ed.). She pioneered the role of “Counsel to the Inquest”, having first acted in that capacity in 2004 in the long-running inquest into the death of Robbie Powell Deceased. Since then she has fulfilled the role in over 20 further lengthy, complex, high-profile and sensitive inquests, including those into the deaths of Ian Tomlinson and Poppi Worthington. Her other clients include Chief Constables of Police, private prisons, doctors and NHS Trusts, care homes, local authorities, child care agencies, construction companies and other employers, and families.

As a result of all her work, Alison is able to advise on all aspects of coronial matters, although she has a particular expertise for complex inquests involving state agencies.

These include deaths in custody, deaths involving the Police or following restraint, deaths resulting from domestic violence, and deaths raising issues as to the clinical care provided for physical or mental illness.

Notable Inquests cases

Public & Administrative

Alison regularly advises and appears in the Administrative Court in relation to claims for judicial review or applications under section 13 of the Coroners Act 1988, usually acting on behalf of Coroners or Police Constabularies.

Notable Public & Administrative cases

Mueller v Area Coroner for Manchester West [2017] EWHC 3000 (Admin)

an application under s.13 of the Coroners Act 1988 in which the President of the QBD gave guidance on the conduct of “documentary” inquests.

R (on the application of P and others) v Secretary of State for the Home Department [2017] EWCA Civ 321 represented the Metropolitan Commissioner as part of linked appeals which considered the lawfulness of the revised statutory scheme for the disclosure of convictions and its compatibility with Article 8 ECHR.

R (SofS for Transport) v HM Senior Coroner for Norfolk [2016] EWHC 2279 (Admin)

the Lord Chief Justice ruled that coroners’ powers under schedule 5 of the Coroners and Justice Act 2009 did not enable them to order the Air Accidents Investigation Branch to disclose cockpit voice and flight data recordings. The Court also gave guidance concerning overlapping investigatory jurisdictions.

R (NE and NM) v Birmingham Magistrates’ Court and Chief Constable of West Midlands Police [2015] EWHC 688 (Admin)

the President of the QBD ruled upon the proper approach to be taken to an application by a serious sexual offender for release from the indefinite notification requirements in the Sexual Offences Act 2003.

an application under s.13 of the Coroners Act 1988 for a fresh inquest into the death of Poppi Worthington, a 13 month old baby suspected to have suffered abuse.

Flower v HM Senior Coroner for Devon [2015] EWHC 3666 (Admin)

the Court clarified the law by ruling that a decision by a coroner not to resume an inquest after criminal proceedings does not make him functus officio.

R (Krol) v The Commissioner of Police of the Metropolis [2014] EWHC 4552 (Admin)

the court ruled that the police’s refusal to expunge a caution for the offence of actual bodily harm by a mother in punishing her young daughter did not breach her Article 8 rights.

Brown v HM Coroner for Norfolk and the Chief Constable of Norfolk Constabulary [2014] EWHC 187 (Admin) an application for a fresh inquest under s.13 of the Coroners Act 1988. The judgment provides guidance from the Chief Coroner concerning pre-inquest review hearings.

Wilkinson v HM Coroner for Manchester (South) [2012] EWHC 2755 (Admin)

the use of the “unlawful killing” conclusion in cases where the death has resulted from careless driving and concluded that driving offences causing death could not justify that verdict.

Police Law

Alison regularly represents Chief Constables and their officers in inquests, public inquiries, judicial review claims and civil actions. She also advises on many aspects of police powers including both policy and operational issues. Additionally, Alison acts for Appropriate Authorities and advises Panels in police misconduct proceedings.
